PRESIDENT ASKS CO-OPERATION

President Elmer E. Oettinger, of Wilson, head of the North Carolina Merchants Association, has sent the following circular letter to all the local associations in the State:

"Realizing its importance, I desire to call to the attention of your association the approaching campaign drive for membership in the American Cotton Association, which will take place the latter part of October.

"The main purpose of this association, I am advised is to retain a fair price for cotton, to support the warehouse movement, and to do everything in its power to maintain the general prosperity that we now enjoy in the south.

"The North Carolina division, which is headed by Governor Bick-ett as president, desires to enroll every farmer, merchant, business and professional man in the state as a member of the Cotton Association, so that North Carolina, along with the other Southern States, may be put solidly behind the movement.

"Regardless of any personal conviction or opinion any of us may have with reference to the holding of cotton for higher prices that may exist at the harvest time, we are forced to admit the fact that cotton plays a big part in our business life, particularly here in the South. The following paragraph from a letter received from Mr. S. G. Rubinow, of Raleigh, director of the Cotton Association campaign in this State, gives some idea of the situation now existing:

"Both bankers and merchants have extended a tremendous credit in terms of cotton, based upon wartime prices. If cotton begins to slump now and goes down below the actual cost of production, it will be impossible to redeem that credit.
Add to that the fact that we have no adequate system of warehouses in which to store and hold cotton, and you have a situation which is really dangerous."

"I feel that the Cotton Association campaign deserves the support of the Merchants Association, and request that this letter be read at the next regular meeting of your association; that committees be appointed to co-operate in the campaign, and that your every effort be made to aid the Cotton Association, in order that the South may continue in its present prosperous condition."

This unqualified endorsement of the Cotton Association campaign by the president of the Merchants Association will bring new assurances of success to the cotton farmers of North Carolina in their efforts to stabilize the price of cotton and keep it above the cost of production. The Cotton Association is one of the few things in the history of the cotton farming business in the State in which the commercial organizations of North Carolina have stood so solidly behind the efforts of the producer. The merchant, banker and other business man is almost as much interested in keeping the price of cotton above the cost of production as the farmer himself, for a drop in the price of cotton at this time, with large credits extended on cotton by both merchants and bankers would have to be strengthened or the loans called. Either situation would bring ruin to the industrial and commercial South, as well as to the cotton farmer. The State is largely agricultural, and agricultural products are mainstay of what North Carolina has to sell. A drop in the price of the main crop, so materially decreases the purchasing power of the majority of our people, that business in every other line feels the immediate effect of a drop in the price of the big agricultural product.

PROPOSED REGULATION OF MEAT PACKERS EFFECTIVE

The packers are trying to raise a fog concerning the Kenyon bill by making people think it would establish a "license system." As a matter of fact, no such system is involved in the bill. What's required is a reckless driver to give bond for future good conduct create a "bonding system"? The idea is little short of absurd, obviously the bond would be required only of a driver who was reckless and would not affect those who did not drive automobiles, nor those who did not drive them recklessly.

The fact concerning the meat packing industry is that it has been found to be in the control of a monopoly. This fact has been found by the Food Administration and by the Federal Trade Commission. Also, previous Government investigation, long before the Federal Trade Commission was established, has proved the same fact.

The question is, how can we make the Anti-Trust laws effective in stamping out monopoly in the Meat Packing Industry, and remove the menace of a great food trust? We do not want to destroy the Meat Packers, but they must be regulated.
Past experience shows that it has been almost impossible to convict the trust, and when convicted the results have been small. Therefore, Senators Kenyon and Kendrick, in drawing their bills, which are now before the Senate Committee on Agriculture, have endeavored to put teeth in them—teeth which will be effective in checking monopoly.

They believe that the investigations of the Food Administration and of the Federal Trade Commission establish a prima facie case that monopoly control exists. Therefore, these bills shift the burden of proof to the meat packers. That means that when the Secretary of Agriculture shall find that the meat packers are disobeying the law, he may take prompt action against them, which action will be effective unless the packers can prove in the courts that the findings of the Secretary of Agriculture are wrong. To accomplish this, the bills provide that the packers must go through the form of taking out a license, in which they agree to live up to the Anti-Trust laws. If they are found to be in violation of these laws, the bills provide that the Secretary of Agriculture may either suspend or revoke the license. The meat packer may then appeal to the courts and have a full hearing before action is taken. Thus he is provided with his "day in court."

This is not a "license system" like that enforced by the Food Administration and which has come to be a bugbear to so many business men. It is not a precedent for other businesses. It is merely a wise provision designed to make it possible to reach properly and effectively a proven monopoly.
